Post's Plane Repaired; He Resumes World Flight

NEW PROPELLER
FLOWN TO FLAT,
ALASKA, TODAYFlier Expects To Refuel
At Fairbanks This Afternoon

Flat, Alaska, July 21—(AP)—Wiley Post, Oklahoma flier, resumed his aerial jaunt around the world today at 7:28 A. M. Fairbanks Time, 11:28 A. M. CST.) Joe Crosson, Alaskan pilot, who brought a new propeller for Post's plane from Fairbanks, circled over the field and Post joined him in the air. Both planes headed east for Fairbanks where Post will refuel for his flight to Edmonton, Alberta.

Post was due in Fairbanks, 375 miles away, in less than three hours. If all goes well, he still can

Has Until 7 P. M.
Sunday To Cash In—

New York, July 21—(AP)—Wiley Post has until 7 P. M. CST. Sunday to break the existing round-the-world record which he and Harold's Gatty set in 1931.

But Lee Trenholm, his flight representative, said today he looked for him back at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, by late Saturday afternoon.

Trenholm figured that Post could make the 3,800 miles in 26 hours flying time, with about five hours more for stop-overs.

get a new globe-girdling record, eclipsing that of eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes which he and Harold Gatty set in 1931.

He was on his seventh day out of New York and his elapsed time was 152 hours and 28 minutes he took off here. Allowing three hours for the flight to Fairbanks, he would be 11 hours and 11 minutes ahead of the Post-Gatty record at that point.

With a quick refueling at Fairbanks he would gain a further advantage as he and Gatty remained there five hours and 54 minutes on the flight two years ago.

FLIER GOT SOME SLEEP

Flat, Alaska, July 21—(AP)—Refreshed by between five and six hours of sleep, Wiley Post, world girdling flier, was back at the airfield at midnight to watch repairs being made on the damaged Winnie Mae, and said that if possible he wanted to get away by early today.

Post expressed the opinion he would still "break that record" of eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes which he and Harold Gatty set in their 1931 globe-circling flight. If his ship was repaired sufficiently for him to get away this morning, he hoped off from New York at 3:10 A. M. CST. last Saturday, July 15.

While Post was in a sleep of exhaustion mechanics made tentative plans to refuel the plane with a light load at the Flat field and have Post fly to Hill field, two miles away, where he could make a much safer take off with a heavier load on the longer runway.

A full load of fuel taken on at the Hill field would obviate the necessity of going to Fairbanks before starting the hop for Edmonton, Alberta.

The Oklahoma man was only 4,000 miles from his goal, New York, when he landed after a 22-hour battle with the elements on his flight from Siberia. He was undaunted by his plane nosing over in a stiff cross wind when he finally slid down to earth at the airport here at 3:30 P. M. Fairbanks time (7:30 P. M. CST.) yesterday. The propeller was broken and the landing gear was damaged.

He was unhurt himself, although extremely nervous and exhausted. The jet flier to make a solo flight across the treacherous North Pacific, Posts elapsed time to Flat from New York was 136 hours, 20 minutes, while he and Gatty did not reach Fairbanks about 375 miles further on, until 166 hours, 39 minutes had passed by.

"Test" For Long Time:

For a long time after sighting and, he said, he had been "lost following some river." Sighted first over Nome seven hours previously at 12:30 P. M. CST. In the interval he was seen twice over Ruby and as far east as Tanana, within 125 miles of Fairbanks.

Rain fell throughout the day over central Alaska, however, and he became confused, fighting the heavy clouds. He finally landed here on the Iditarod river in western Alaska, about 300 miles southeast of Nome.

Conspiracies To Attain
Widowhood Are Charged
Against Chicago WomenVera Carl And Bessie
Opas Face Accusers
In Chicago Courts

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—Two women sat in crowded courtrooms today and heard witnesses accuse them of plotting, carefully and brutally, to attain the state of widowhood.

One was Mrs. Vera Carl, 37, a cripple, charged with murder for allegedly hiring another man to kill her husband so she might be able to collect his life insurance and marry one to whom she had transferred her affections.

The other was Mrs. Bessie Opas, accused of a charge of likewise valuing her husband's insurance policy more than his life.

Also in the courtroom sat the husband, Marion Opas. The alleged plot to kill him had gone awry.

In Mrs. Carl's trial, Joe Fess, self-confessed murderer of her husband, George, calmly recounted details of how he had shot him for $800, as they sat with two others drinking beer in the victim's grocery store.

Two Serving Time

The two, Mrs. Carl's brother, Ivan Gillet, and her alleged sweetheart, John Milosic, are now serving life terms for their part in the crime. Fess is awaiting trial.

Mrs. Carl, her twisted body hunched down in her chair, sobbed as Fess testified details of the murder plot and the actual killing. It was necessary to clear the courtroom of the noisy, and largely feminine group of spectators.

A 21-year-old youth, Angelo Masso, testified that Mrs. Opas had given him and three other youths $40 as a "down payment" to remove her husband.

Masso, John de Salvo, 17, and Dominick Zullo, 19, yesterday changed their pleas to guilty. The fourth youth allegedly hired to "do the job" obtained a severance before the trial.

Man Is Slain For His Knapsack In Big Four Ry. Car

Robinson, Ill., July 21—(AP)—An unidentified man riding on a knapsack car was slain for a knapsack of clothing and toilet articles, police said today following the confession of an 18-year-old Negro who gave his name as Sam Reed of Cairo, Ill.

The body was found yesterday in the car on the Big Four lines, two miles south of here, and within four hours police had arrested Reed and obtained his confession. A companion, Somoman Fontenot, 19, Moron, La., was also held.

Meanwhile, Coroner John Long was attempting to identify the body of the victim, shot through the lung. He said he found money sewed in the man's cap but no marks of identification.

Blanks For Sales
Tax Returns Being

Springfield, Ill., July 21—(AP)—The State Department of Finance today started the distribution of blanks upon which retailers must file their returns for the new two per cent sales tax.

Finance Director Joseph J. Rice said the return blanks are being sent to all County Clerks and to Associations of Commerce.

With fines and jail sentences as penalties, the returns must be filed August 15 on July sales of tangible personal property at retail, accompanied by payment of the tax due for the month.

General Manager Of Exposition

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—Dancing girls at the World's Fair went through their repertoire of wiggles and wiggles for Major Lenox R. Lohr, General Manager of the Exposition, and didn't even get a blush out of him.

In fact, he said after touring the shows along the Midway last night, his only grievance was with the barker—for advertising some of the acts too well and leading folks to expect more than they actually see when they get inside.

Restrain Clamming
Stays In Force

Judge Harry Edwards in the Circuit Court today ruled that Howard Tompkins of this city was not guilty of contempt in violation of the injunction issued two years ago by Judge Harry L. Heer at Galeana, in which clammers were not permitted to carry on their operations on lands claimed by William Page in Lee county. Tompkins was represented at the hearing before the court by former State Attorney Mark C. Keller while attorneys Charles Linscott of Rockford and Albert Hanneken of Dixon appeared for the plaintiffs. Tompkins was held not guilty and was released.

The trial of Joseph Laidig of Dixon, charged with the violation of the injunction writ which was issued against clammers, is to be taken up in the Circuit Court at a later date, it was decided by agreement among counsel. Laidig is represented by Attorney Grover W. Gehant.

From the ruling of Judge Edwards, the injunction remains in force prohibiting the taking of clams from the bed of the river adjoining the Page farm. The injunction in its present form will continue until its validity has been tested in the court.

Testimony taken at the hearing before Judge Edwards this morning was to the effect that shots had been fired at operators of clamming boats, coming from the direction of the Page property and that some of these shots had struck the boat operated by Laidig while others had struck the water close to the boat operated by Tompkins. Both of these defendants and John William Page took the witness stand at the hearing this morning which was attended by a number who are interested in the clam shell industry in this section on Rock river.

SLIGHT RALLY

New York Plans To

BULLETIN
New York, July 21—(AP)—After their worst break since the wild days of 1929, stocks rallied today, substantially reducing extreme losses of $3 to more than $17 for scores of leading issues. Sales approximated 9,750,000 shares, the largest volume since October, 1929.

New York, July 21—(AP)—Stocks crashed downward today in the wildest market since 1929. Extreme losses generally ranged from $3 to more than $12 for shares of the country's largest corporations. Trading in many issues was demoralized due to the absence of supporting orders. Pools liquidated stocks in enormous volume and there was tremendous selling from speculative margin accounts that had collapsed.

Reports that the New York Stock Exchange planned to close were denied by the Exchange, which also said that dealings had not been suspended in any issue, despite the chaotic condition of the market. The tape at one time fell half an hour behind floor transactions.

By 1:55 o'clock the market had rallied from the lows. The rebound for some leaders was very substantial. American Telephone snapping back to $119 from $114, reducing its loss by half. United States Steel common, which had collapsed under $50 for a loss of about $8, veered back to above $52, while New York Central, after

FACTOR KIDNAP
CASE BELIEVED
NEAR SOLUTIONFour Members Of Roger Touhy's Gang Are Now In Custody

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—The kidnapers' rendezvous where John Factor was held captive for $50,000 ransom has been found by Department of Justice agents.

Operatives of the Bureau of Intelligence said they had found the hideout in the Skokie valley marsh near the right-of-way of the North Shore interurban line. They began a search for a grocer they had learned delivered provisions to the kidnapers, suspected to be the Touhy gang.

With Touhy and three members of his gang in jail, federal and city officials professed to be near a solution of the Factor abduction.

"We know positively who the men were that kidnaped John Factor, and if certain witnesses stand up we will get a conviction," said State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

Asked if Touhy and his aides were the men wanted, Courtney replied: "The several thousand dollars in $10 and $20 bills they had undoubtedly was part of the Factor ransom."

Federal authorities under Melvin Purvis, head in Chicago of the United States Bureau of Investigation, were said to have worked all night on the Factor case, and to have uncovered important evidence.

Can't Identify Thugs
Factor has consistently maintained that he would be unable to identify any of the 20 men who he said held him captive in a farm house near Chicago.

Captain Daniel Gilbert, Chief Investigator for the Cook County State's Attorney's office in Chicago, asserted that three of four members of the gang of Touhy, arrested in Elkhorn, Wis., were involved in the recent abduction of Factor.

The police at Elkhorn said the prisoners were identified as Touhy, Willie S. Harkay, "Gloomy Gus" Schaeffer and Ed. McFadden. They added that Schaeffer had $1,200 in $10 bills in his possession. Reports at the time Factor was released were that his ransom, reputed to be from $50,000 to $200,000, was paid in $10 and $20 bills.

To Be Questioned
The suspects were returned to Chicago, where they are to be questioned about Factor's abduction as well as about the kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer.

At the same time progress was claimed by officials in their investigation. (Continued on Page 2)

A. W. Weeks of Sterling suffered a sprained back and Sam Bradley of the same city, a broken nose and hand this morning when an automobile, owned and driven by Hunter Wood, turned over on state route 2 north of Amboy after a tire had blown out. The two were members of a party of Sterling and Rock Falls men enroute to Amboy, Compton and West Brooklyn to enlist support for the proposed extension of Route 71 from Shabbona to Rock Falls, the others in the party, all of whom escaped injury, being: D. W. Grandon, editor and publisher of the Sterling Gazette; Mr. Wood and Mayor S. H. Feisley of Rock Falls. Mr. Wood was able to keep the car upright after the blowout until the steering apparatus failed and it swerved into the ditch and turned over. The injured men were given first aid at the Amboy hospital and then were returned to their homes.

$10 Minimum Wage
For Clerks Set By Woolworth Company

Manager E. G. Sherill of the Dixon Woolworth Company store, was the first to announce an adjustment of wages of the clerks which becomes effective July 22.

The Woolworth company today announced a plan in cooperation with the federal government to bring about a uniformity in wages, which provides that all of the members of the regular clerical force will receive a minimum wage of $10 weekly. In some instances this will represent an increase of as high as 33 per cent to some of the clerks in the Dixon store and in no case will the wages be lowered. It is needless to say that the clerical force in the local store received the announcement with great enthusiasm.

FOURTH MAN IS BEING SOUGHT IN
LUER KIDNAPINGAlleged Conspirators To Be Tried Under Illinois Statutes

St. Louis, July 21—(AP)—A "hunch" by a Madison, Ill., Policeman, George Miller, today was credited with bringing about the reputed solution of the August Luer kidnaping.

Miller, he had known Percy Michael Fitzgerald, declared by Department of Justice agents to have confessed his part in the abduction, which confession brought about the arrest of four other conspirators, since 1930. "He didn't look right to me," the patrolman explained.

"When Mr. Luer was kidnaped I figured Percy was in on it. x x x I got his picture and gave it to Arthur Moore, the state highway policeman, and he took it to Alton. The police there showed it to Mrs. Luer."

Mrs. Luer, wife of the Alton, Ill., released last Sunday after more than five days' imprisonment, identified the picture as one of the men who seized her husband in their home.

Seek Fourth Man
Fitzgerald was arrested last Monday. He reportedly confessed and four more persons, two women and two men, were taken into custody. Search today was being made for a fourth man, Walter "Irish" O'Malley, declared by the officers to have been implicated.

Other suspects, who today underwent additional questioning as an effort was made to check their stories, are Randall Eugene Novell, Madison, Ill.; Miss Norma Vaughn, East St. Louis, Ill.; and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Musiala, steel foundry worker and wife of near Madison.

A digout found beneath a shed on Musiala's small farm was identified yesterday by Luer as the underground prison in which he was held.

Officials indicated the prisoners would be tried in Madison county, Ill., as an Illinois law provides a maximum sentence of death for kidnaping for ransom. A five year prison sentence and fine of $50,000 is the maximum punishment for violation of the Federal Cochran Act for using the mails to extort money.

Il Duce May Come
To U. S. For Visit
New York, July 21—(AP)—The New York American says Premier Mussolini, elected by the reception General Galeo Balbo in the United States, may visit this country shortly.

The Italian leader, the paper says, may come to confer with President Roosevelt on world peace and economic matters.

Generoso Pope, chairman of the mayor's reception committee to Balbo, is quoted as making the disclosure after a conference with Balbo. He did not give Balbo as authority but he said the Italian Air Minister "hoped Mussolini would be able to come to the United States soon."

According to estimates, a woman requires only four-fifths of the food necessary for a man.

Mrs. Croilidge, widow of the former President, is a member of Pi Beta Phi.

The injured were:
Lieut. Theodore Millard, pilot of Great Harrington, Mass., stationed at Quantico, Va.
Capt. C. T. Brooks, Washington, D. C.
Chief Gunner's Mate Michael Wozniak

At Holy Cross hospital physicians said all three had suffered internal injuries, now serious they could not tell immediately. The attendants believed they would recover, however.

The snub was a single-motored, new amphibian being flown from Quantico and Washington to San Diego, Calif., to be placed in service.

NEW PROPELLER
FLOWN TO FLAT,
ALASKA, TODAY

from his New York backers about his future activities, at the same time seeking further news of the progress of his rival, Wiley Post.

In a big Soviet seaplane flown by Pilot Levansky, a Russian flier, Mattern made the 600-mile flight here yesterday from Anadyr, Siberia, where he crashed on June 14 on his globe-circling flight. The plane arrived at 1:10 P. M. (6:10 P. M. CST) yesterday.

Run Out Of Gas
Within six miles of Nome, they reported, they ran out of gas and were compelled to land, before resuming their flight.

Another pilot, two mechanics and a navigator made up the remainder of the seaplane's crew. They planned to remain here until tonight or tomorrow, before returning to Siberia.

Mattern still wishes to complete his globe-circling flight to New York, he said, but his plans are definite. The plane in which he left New York on June 13 is a wreck 50 miles from Anadyr.

The seaplane was dispatched to Mattern's aid by the Soviet government.

Although it was a holiday in the pits, hundreds of traders circled uneasily around the vast trading floor of the Exchange with huge crowds in the gallery watching curiously. The comparative quiet was in sharp contrast with the "upbeat" that usually prevails. Brokers' clerks worked many hours checking their records.

A few transactions were taken care of in the cash market, mainly business that had to be cleared on newly arrived shipments.

Traders gathered in knots to talk the situation over, but the shouting and gesticulating were absent. Most of them were glad of the holiday. The tense worried expressions of yesterday gave way to smiles and jokes and the enforced holiday was taken as "good medicine" for the speculative fever which had infected the pits practically all the time since the lifting of the national bank holiday.

The Winnipeg market was open as usual, as was Liverpool, and the chief activity of those who "talked shop" was in watching tickers carrying quotations from these market centers.

GOVERNMENT MAY ACT
Washington, July 21—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration is ready to take whatever action it can command, if that becomes necessary, to stop mass manipulation of stock and commodity markets by operators seeking profit only for themselves.

This was evident today as Secretary Wallace moved to develop a definite program to halt, if possible, widespread shifts in grain prices. Wallace also gave his approval to the suspension of futures trading for one day at Chicago and other points.

President Roosevelt himself is concentrating on his industrial recovery program, convinced, his advisers believe, that this would accomplish more to restore better times than any changes in quoted prices on the exchanges. Nevertheless, those close to him believe that if price fluctuations endanger his recovery plans, the President will act and act quickly.

Approves Suspension
In approving the order of directors of the Chicago Board of Trade suspending trade today, Wallace said:

"This action is a fundamentally sound move in the right direction because it affords a cooling off period in which to take stock of the situation."

Wallace said he had no suggestion of the closing.

Just after the close of the markets yesterday and at the direction of Roosevelt, Wallace restored the requirement—suspended last October—that the Agriculture Department be informed daily of the names of operators who have traded heavily in the grain market.

This was preliminary. Wallace said, to developing a definite plan to stop violent shifts in grain prices.

losing $11 out of its decline by $5. Over 9,000,000 shares.

Indications were that the turnover would exceed 9,000,000 shares. At 2 o'clock the usual closing hour the tape was half an hour late.

Not since the frenzied early stages of the decline four years ago had the market witnessed such a drastic deflation of values as occurred this afternoon. Stocks were offered for what they would bring and buyers, for a time, were scarce at any price.

The upswing that started shortly before the close appeared due to heavy short covering, as well as purchases by traders who were trying for a turn on the theory that a rebound was due.

The break coincided with a tumble of $6 a bale in cotton. Until then the market had been steady to firm after an irregular opening. The market was still climbing from its lows after 2 o'clock and by 2:10 losses had been roughly cut in half. American Telephone at that time was off $3.75 at $120, while U. S. Steel was down $4.50 at $53.

GRAIN TRADING SUSPENDED ON
FOUR EXCHANGESAction Is Taken To Let Tired Brokers And Help Get Rest

Chicago, July 21—(AP)—The grain trade drew a long breath and relaxed today as trade was suspended at all the American exchanges to allow rest from the violent session which culminated yesterday in the worst price collapse in many years.

Following the action of the Chicago Board of trade in suspending dealings for the day, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Louis and Duluth were quick to fall in line and take a holiday. When trading is resumed tomorrow, there will be limits on daily fluctuations.

The action taken by directors of the Board of Trade late last night caused but little surprise. The reason given for the suspension of trading was that tired employees needed rest, but veteran observers saw it as a means of checking the frenzy which characterized transactions late yesterday. When wheat dropped upwards of 17 cents, rye, 26 and other grains in proportion.

Tenders Uneasy
Although it was a holiday in the pits, hundreds of traders circled uneasily around the vast trading floor of the Exchange with huge crowds in the gallery watching curiously. FEET OF CLAY
LITTLE child clung to my outstretched hand, Confident—trusting—you understand; And I thought: "O God, let him not see, The shadowed fears within the soul of me!"

A little child walked by my side, Faltering—as first steps he tried; And I thought: "O God, let him ne'er see, The rugged paths—so often trod by me!"

A little child with broken toy and grief, Sought comfort — trusting I could bring relief; And I thought: "O God, let him not see, The bruised heart that life has left to me!"

A little child grown tired of play would rest, Breathed a prayer — slept against my breast, And I thought: "O God, that I might truly be, All—a little child believes of me!"

Orchestra Made Fine Impression In Its Concert

Philharmonic Organization Made Second Appearance

Showing marked progress in interpreting and performing the works of the masters, the Dixon Philharmonic Orchestra delighted an audience of over 200 music lovers in its second concert at the Assembly Park Auditorium last evening. Repetition of a number of classic featured in the organization's first concert, demonstrating clearly the improvement the orchestra is making.

Samuel R. Samuelson, director, announced that Franklin Lundstrom, Oregon violinist, who played with the orchestra last night, will be soloist for the next concert by the orchestra in August.

The program opened with the four movements of Haydn's "Surprise Symphony," which was skillfully presented. The second part of the concert included "Blue Danube Waltz" (Strauss), "Finlandia" (Sibelius), and "Festral March" (Cadman).

Vocal soloists were Reynold Geary, baritone and Esther Disman, soprano. Mrs. Flora Horner accompanied them each at the piano. Robert J. Smith, Oregon violinist, played "Polonaise de Concert" (Poeper), with Mrs. H. A. Smith, also of Oregon as his accompanist.

The director and members of the orchestra are grateful for the floral decorations which graced the stage, the donations of Mesdames Ommen, Clayton, Stauffer and Rusk.

Helps for Housewives

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS

If you're using marshmallows and wish to cut them up into parts put some flour on your scissors or knife before cutting.

Lettuce should always be wrapped in a wet cloth to keep it crisp and kept on ice if it is to be at its best.

Mint can be dried and saved for mint sauce during the "off season" when mint is difficult to obtain.

THROW THOSE SPOOLS AWAY! FIRST SEE WHAT BABY SAYS

Empty spools should never be thrown away in a house where there are small children. The creeping baby enjoys rolling them on the floor and chasing after them. Strung together on a stout string, he liked to handle them and bang them against hard surfaces. The 4 or 5-year-old will find them just the thing to use for smokestacks and chimneys.

WELL-BALANCED BREAKFAST VITAL TO HEALTH

A well balanced breakfast, eaten in a leisurely manner, is essential to the child's health.

A properly balanced breakfast consists of fruit, fresh or cooked, cooked or ready-cooked cereal, a meat substitute, such as eggs, or such meat as broiled bacon, bread, toast or muffins. Milk should be given to the children. Coffee may be given to those of college age.

COOK MEALS IN ADVANCE: IT'S A HELP IN SUMMER

Summer meals can be prepared with less discomfort from the heat if the cooking is done on certain days, preparing meats, vegetables and desserts for the "leisure" days of the week.

Meats can be re-heated or served cold, vegetables can be creamed, browned or made into salads. A variety of desserts can be made at one time to last for several days.

MAKING MEAT TENDER

A pinch of baking soda added to the water in which you are boiling meats, particularly meats you have bought in an economical frame of mind and which are good but not so tender as the choicer cuts, will add to their tenderness.

COLD CUTS FOR SUMMER

A variety of cold cuts, such as sliced ham, roast lamb, sliced liver-wurst and meat loaf arranged on a platter and garnished with parsley makes an excellent summer dish. Stuffed tomato salads can be served with the meats.

Young Roosevelt To Marry Texas Girl Tomorrow?

Chicago Paper Says The Wedding Will Be In Burlington

BULLETIN

Burlington, Iowa, July 21.—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt son of the President and Miss Ruth Gogins, of Fort Worth, Texas, will be married here tomorrow under present arrangements. The Associated Press learned from an unimpeachable source today.

Young Roosevelt will arrive here by plane today, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Anna Curtis Dall. Mrs. Dall will be Miss Gogins' only attendant.

Who will attend Roosevelt was not ascertained. Only immediate members of the two families will be present at the wedding, in the home of George C. Swiler, brother of Mrs. Gogins, mother of the bride-to-be.

The hour for the wedding has not yet been set. The Associated Press was told. No formal statement will be issued until after the wedding and the couple has departed for a honeymoon "in the west," it was asserted.

Chicago, July 21.—(AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner said today that Elliott Roosevelt, 22-year-old son of the President, will marry Miss Ruth Gogins of Fort Worth, Texas, tomorrow at the home of Miss Gogins' uncle, George C. Swiler of Burlington, Ia.

The newspaper's story, which was copyrighted, said that it was able to make the announcement "on the highest authority."

"Under the couple's plans last night," the article said, "the wedding will take place in Burlington, Iowa, at the home of George C. Swiler, an uncle of Miss Gogins."

"Miss Gogins and her mother quickly left town yesterday afternoon bound for a destination which Elliott refused to reveal."

The newspaper added, however, that Elliott's sister, Mrs. Anna Dall, told reporters:

"I may have an important announcement to make tomorrow. A reservation, the Herald and Examiner said, was made by Elliott with an airplane line for next Sunday for himself, Samuel Platt, his attorney, Mrs. Platt and a "Miss Platt."

Attorney Platt, the newspaper said, admitted he had no daughter taking the plane and said he did not know who the "Miss Platt" was.

A FAMOUS NOVELIST PASSES.

Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins, better known to thousands of Americans as plain Anthony Hope, certainly won't be remembered as one of England's great novelists. But the news of his recent death was assuredly unwelcome to a very large number of people, and the work that he did brought entertainment and excitement to an enormous circle of readers.

Anthony Hope, in case you have forgotten, wrote "The Prisoner of Zenda." He was the writer who discovered that an especial kind of romance, decked out with tinsel and invested with an enchanting aura of never-was, could be thrown over those small kingdoms and principalities of central and eastern Europe. In a day when men were finding it hard to take the pretensions of dying monarchy seriously, he transplanted the whole business to a make-believe land and revived its glamour.

His books were never profound or weighty—but they were good reading, and they form a not inconsiderable part of the romantic background against which many of us spent our youth.

RUSSIAN TRADE AWAITS

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska issued a little statement on trade with Russia the other day which is worth close attention.

"I have learned on reliable authority," says the senator, "that the Russian government desires to buy in the American market $10,000,000 of meat products, 1,000,000 bales of cotton and $400,000,00 worth of machinery. She can make payment partly in kind and partly in money, but must have several years in which to complete the transaction."

"She proposes to ship us products of which we import a large proportion of what we use. She proposes to ship these products and apply the proceeds upon her debt."

To a country which for years has been looking frantically for customers, this sounds like important news. If Senator Norris' information is correct, somebody down at Washington ought to see to it that this deal is consummated.

RECOVERY ON THE WAY

A business man who wondered just how much real substance there was behind the current rise in industrial stock prices set out recently on a tour of inspection among various factories. He found a number of big middle western plants working at or near capacity for the first time in several years; and at last he encountered a steel plant working three eight-hour shifts.

"I asked what they were making," he says, "and I found out they were making barbed wire—making all of it they could. The farmers are beginning to buy it, in quantity, for the first time in many months. For a long time they have been letting their fences go unrepaid. Now they are coming into the market again—and the barbed wire business is good."

This little anecdote seems to reflect a general situation which offers one of the most encouraging developments of the year.

SUMMER'S FUNNIEST STORY.

Whatever the Pulitzer prizes for next year may be, the funniest story of the summer of 1933 seems already to have established itself. It is, unquestionably, the story by a Viennese newspaper stating that Adolf Hitler, Nazi chancellor of Germany, is of Jewish descent.

To be sure, this story has drawn indignant and heated denials from Berlin. A dispatch from Vienna remarks that the genealogy drawn up to prove Hitler's Jewish ancestry contains "doubtful entries."

But the story was worth reading, and laughing over, just the same. For the head of a dictatorial party which seeks to solve a great nation's troubles by persecuting the Jews to be found to be of Jewish blood himself—that would be one of the most notable ironies of all history.

We're going to do this job in a goldfish bowl—meaning, everything will be done publicly.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of industrial recovery law.

Dogma is an ear trumpet for the morally deaf, and through it they hear another's voice of conscience which they mistake for their own.—Dr. George Graham, psychologist.

A woman must school herself to think only of business while at work, and only of her husband and children while at home.—Mrs. Gerline Bowman, Chicago business woman.

Prohibition stopped all rational drinkers; we became guzzlers. Now we have to teach the people to drink.—H. L. Mencken, editor and critic.

The common people care nothing for the beautiful; on the contrary, they have a powerful passion for the hideous.—H. L. Mencken, author and critic.

The machine always creates more employment than it destroys.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, scientist.

VOICES OF THE DEAD

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton.)

Not long ago—last Christmas

Day, to be exact—the King of England made a speech to his people, which was preserved in a gramophone record and stored away in the British Museum. The record was specially prepared, and is believed to be of such quality that it will be usable three thousand years from now, long after King George has vanished.

Ah, what would we not give to be able to hear the voices of three thousand years gone by—when King David was weaving his beautiful, broken dreams into Psalms. Or, later, when Isaiah was speaking in Jerusalem, telling of a time when nations will learn war no more. Or Plato was discoursing of divine philosophy in Athens; or, later still, when Jesus was preaching His gospel of love in Galilee.

As a matter of fact we do hear these voices, without any need of a gramophone record. We are what we are, and we live and think as we do, because sweet voices, long ago, said certain words which time could not silence.

They were wise, deep, true words, uttering noble, new-born thoughts, which still enlighten and guide the race of men, rebuking their wrongs and fortifying their faith, and keeping them from despair.

If we try to annul a contract, the words of the great jurists of England, living though their bodies be dust, forbid us. If we would over-reach a fellow man, the voice of an old Roman lawyer, who died before Justinian, stops us. This act, Moses commands; that, King Alfred forbids. Thus the dead rule and the living obey, as, for weal or woe, the men of the future will obey us when our lives have been added to the momentum of the great body of influence and law by which the race is guarded and guided.

He, being dead yet speaketh," is true of every human being.

A word spoken today sinks into the memory of a child; it is repeated by him fifty years after. It is heard, and again remembered, and repeated. It changes lives. It directs thought and conduct. It causes hands to be outstretched in pity, or uplifted in anger or hate.

o wonder Jesus said, "The earth will pass away, but my words shall not pass away."

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

All of a sudden Shrimpy cried, "Hey, why not let the whole bunch ride? There's room enough for six of you inside that carriage shell."

"All right," said Scouty. "I don't mind. I know that Goldy too is kind. As long as every one of us can ride we may as well."

Then Shrimpy loudly shouted, "Whoa! Stand still, now, and don't dare to go until the Tinies climb aboard. Then I will lead the way."

"I'm thinking of a place right now that we can all get to, somehow. It will furnish all the Tinymites some real nice fun today."

As soon as everyone was in, wee Doty shouted, with a grin, "We are ready. Let's be on our way, but please don't go too fast."

"Gee, if you do, there is no doubt but what I'll topple and fall out. I like this riding very much, so I want it to last."

The little sea-horse moved along and not a single thing went wrong. Old Shrimpy stayed up in the lead to show the lads the way. "My, he can swim," said Doty. "Gee, he's just as speedy as can be. If we were in a game of tag, I'd hate to have him play."

All of a sudden Copy said, "There's something very red just ahead. Why, it looks like a little house. It that where we are all bound?"

"It is a schoolhouse," Shrimpy cried. "And that's where we will end our ride. We'll rap upon the coral door. A teacher will be found."

"We'll meet the class, then, if you wish. You've often heard of schools of fish." "And now we're going to see one," exclaimed wee Goldy, with a grin.

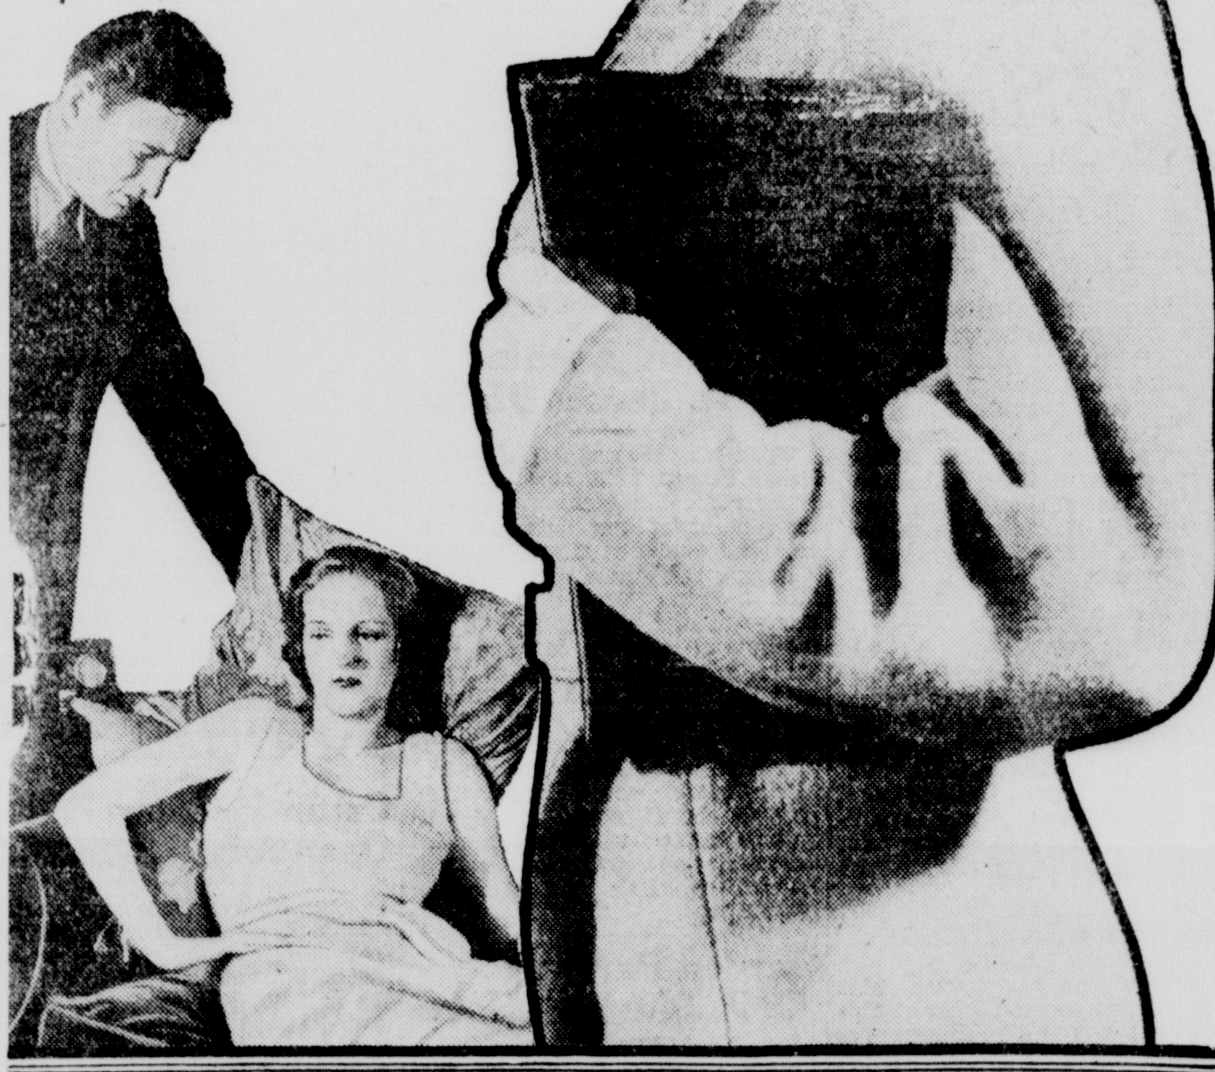

The little door was opened very wide and then the teacher came outside. She nodded to the little Tinies and invited them all in. (The Tinies visit the schoolroom in the next story.)

LOTS OF ACTION IN MAPLES RING THURSDAY NIGHT

The Air Was Full Of Mists Most Of Evening: Decision Boomed

FIGHT RESULTS
"Tiger" Lily Barksdale, Beloit, Wis. vs Bruce Wade, Peoria, 175 pounds, (Barksdale given decision, light heavyweight colored champion of Wis.-Ill.)
Keith Graves, Peoria, won decision over Elwood "Kid" McReynolds, Dixon, 147 pounds.
John Doty, Dixon, given decision over Gene Stamm, Peoria, 135 pounds, on foul.
Al Yeager, Peoria, given decision over Joe Jordan, Beloit, 135 pounds, on injury.

Clark Rousch, Dixon, won decision over Walter Jones, Beloit, 147 pounds.
Willard Jones, Dixon, won technical knockout over Dale Young, Peoria, 120 pounds.

Wrestling
"Mickey" Barefield, winner of exhibition match with Duane Wood.

The Crawford Maples arena was packed for last evening's program furnished by the Dixon Athletic Club, which featured some of the best bouts of the season and some of the best performers obtainable in this section. There were six boxing bouts and an exhibition wrestling match to complete the evening's entertainment. The feature bout of the evening brought together two strong colored light heavyweights, who battled three interesting rounds to decide the championship among colored boxers of Illinois and Wisconsin. "Tiger" Lily Barksdale of Beloit climbed out of the ring with this honor bestowed upon him by the score cards turned in by the judges, over Bruce Wade of Peoria, but which proved most unpopular with the crowd. Today there were any number of requests for another meeting between the pair to more decisively determine the issue. The Peorian met the Lily on even grounds in the first round, both feeling out the other's strong points and landing lightly at intervals.

Plenty of Slugging
Wade began opening up in the second round and from the side lines appeared to have had a shade the better of the fighting in both the opening chapters. The Tiger stepped forward at the going in the third and hurriedly whipped over a hard right to Wade's face which brought plenty of blood from the Peorian's nose. Wade led with his right, measuring his opponent who broke down this stance in the third by landing six heavy rights to the Peorian's head and sending in telling blows to the body. The Beloit contender appeared the stronger of the two in the final and was awarded the decision which made him light heavyweight colored champion of Illinois and Wisconsin.

Keith Graves of Peoria scored his second win in one week over Elwood "Kid" McReynolds of this city in the 147 pound class. The two boys met at LaSalle Tuesday evening where Graves was reported to have won a decision and another last evening evened up accounts as far as the two boxers are concerned. They have met six times and each has won three battles. In the first round McReynolds took the action to his opponent, landing the majority of punches, but Graves displayed an ability to take the Dixonite's abuse and bide his time.

Active Third Round
In the second Graves was the aggressor and sent in telling blows many times. Both showed respect for each other's ability. In the third round, the fans witnessed one of the best three minutes of glove action that could be furnished. Both boxers bared in from the start giving their best and some hard punching was done before the going sounded ending the battle which went to Graves.

Gene Stamm of Peoria, who met Johnny Doty of this city in the 135 pound class, was unfortunate in losing a decision at the opening of the final round of their match. Stamm had demonstrated a very treacherous left from the opening and was using it with telling effect. Doty broke through in the second and blocked several of these punches, and in the first minute of the third round, Stamm caught Doty unaware and swung a hard left which buckled the Dixonite up on the mat writhing in pain. Referee Jack Sharkey and Stamm assisted Doty to his corner where the former raised Doty's glove giving him the decision on a foul. Stamm is thought to have swung a hard left punch which Doty was unable to block and which struck the Dixon boxer foul.

Won On Turned Ankle
Al Yeager of Peoria, who is an idol of the local fans, met Joe Jordan of Beloit who has also appeared before local crowds before in the 135 pound division. These two started out exchanging punches that had plenty of sting behind them. Yeager appeared to be the better of the two until near the close of the first round when Jordan slipped on the canvas turning his left ankle and had to be carried to the dressing room. Referee Jack Sharkey raised Yeager's glove giving him the decision. The fans hoped to see this pairing repeated again in the near future.

Clark Rousch of this city punched Walter Jones, Beloit, colored 39 miles wide.

boxer of the 147 pound classification about the ring for three fast rounds and won the decision. Willard Jones made his second appearance in the ring and scored his second technical knockout in the opening of the first round when Dale Young of Peoria a willing and clever boxer stopped a hard right in the face which spilled him to the floor and Jones was the winner of his second public appearance.

Mickey Barefield and Duane Wood of this city gave a very interesting wrestling exhibition had the fans on the edge of their seats as a special feature. The two went into the ring to wrestle four rounds of three minutes each and in the fourth Barefield pinned Wood's shoulders to the mat.

Lockwood Suffers Blister On Foot

Montreal, July 21—(AP)—The Canadian one-mile record definitely has eluded Jack Lovelock, New Zealand student at Oxford.

Troubled by a blister on his foot, Lovelock, who shattered all records for the mile with a 4:07.6 performance at Princeton last week, ran just fast enough to win speciality last night in 4:34, exactly 20 seconds slower than the Canadian record held by Reg Thomas of England. Lovelock, who was clocked in 4:17.4 at Hamilton, Ont., Wednesday night, won by inches from W. S. Karan of Cambridge.

The mile was the feature event of an informal meet which the combined Oxford-Cambridge team won from a squad of picked Montreal athletes, six first places to five.

CHAMPION—?
One man who probably is getting a big kick out of the muddled three-year-old championship situation is Colonel E. R. Bradley. The uncertainties of horse-racing are illustrated not only by the topsyturvy scramble for honors this year among a dozen horses, but by the experience of Bradley himself in that regard.

Colonel Bradley has had four winners in the Kentucky Derby since 1921 and twice he sent both winner and place horse to the post. But of these six horses, not one ever has been three-year-old champion.

The only three-year-old champion Bradley ever had was Blue Larkspur, and that one floundered badly in the Derby but went on to prove himself one of the greatest horses of all time.

UPS AND DOWNS—

Winning the Derby has seemed to bring bad luck to the Bradley horses. Behave Yourself and Black Servant ran one-two in 1921. There were some great horses on the track that year and a horse named Grey Lady finally proved himself best of the lot.

Matchmaker Hooker Signs Great Card For Bill In August

Matchmaker Ed Hooker today announced a match which will be held at the Maples arena early in August which will bring together two of the best welterweights in northwest Illinois, Billy Celebron of Rockford, who is a participant in the Golden Glove contest in Chicago soon against the team from Ireland, has been matched to meet Elwood "Kid" McReynolds of this city.

The culture of alligator pears is a thriving industry in Florida and southern California; six to eight years are required for an avocado plant to bear fruit.

Tobacco gets its name from tobacco, an Indian pipe.

Behave Yourself robbed a greater horse than himself (and a greater sire) of Derby victory and never won another race. Black Servant lost by a nose to Grey Lady that year in the Devonshire International.

Bubbling Over and Bagenbaggage ran one-two in 1926. But Bradley's Boot to Boot, scratched from the Derby, went on to prove greater than either of these two and to win nearly as much money as both roudier eam. Crusader was three-year-old champion that year.

BREAKDOWNS—

The careers of Bubbling Over and Behave Yourself were brief. Unsoundness, blamed by many horsemen on over-arduous preparation for the Derby, caused their retirement from the track.

Bradley's Burgo King, winner of the 1932 Derby and Broker's Tip, winner of this year's Blue Grass classic, suffered the same misfortune. A horse named Gusto went on last year to win whatever three-year-old championship there was. And Broker's Tip, the Bradley Derby winner this year, popped a small bone in his foot and had to be removed from the tracks.

BROOKVILLE

By Olive V. Bowers.

Brookville—Quite a number of people have visited and admired the large bed of giganteum lilies, containing several hundred blooms, located on the east side of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Paul, local telephone operators. The flowers resemble very much the Madonna lily in color, texture and fragrance. Mr. Paul purchased the bulbs in Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Hornadue and family are spending this week with relatives at Savanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Wolfe motored over from Rockford on Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith. Mr. Wolfe and Mr. Smith spent their youthful days in the same community.

Mark Conrad of the Center Hill community has a very sore hand as the result of being bitten by a calf while feeding the animal in the wood. Infection developed in the wound.

John Rogers, aged 90, of Chamber's Grove, this community's oldest citizen, enjoyed a visit on Saturday with his sister, Mrs. Harriet Lower, aged 87 years. Mr. Rogers was accompanied by his grandson, Ray Rogers, and little daughter, Jean, of Freeport.

Mrs. John Zier of Lanark spent last week as a guest of her sister, Mrs. John Linker and family of Liria township.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bowman of Maywood and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bowman attended a gathering of the Bowman families at Polo on Sunday.

Most Bakers Fair In Price Of Bread

Washington, July 20 — (AP)—Farm administrators reported today that "most bakers appear to be maintaining fair price schedule."

Bakers in the cities where investigations were conducted were reported by administrators to have "in most cases kept within what Secretary Wallace has indicated would be a justifiable price advance."

After ordering the processing tax of 30 cents a bushel on wheat in effect on July 9, he said it did not not justify an increase of more than one half cent a loaf and that the rise in prices of wheat and other ingredients of bread did not justify with the tax an increase of from more than 1 1-8 cents to 1 1-4 cents a pound loaf.

Four years are required to grow a good as plant suitable for making into a first class walking stick.

SWANWICK MAN'S HOUSE IS MARKED BY FIRE DEMONS

It Has Caught Fire 20 Times In The Last Eight Days

Swanwick, Ill., July 21 —(AP)—A fire demon has marked the home of Tony Poignee one mile south-west of here for destruction. The house, a two story dwelling in good condition has started to burn twenty times in the past eight days but each time the blaze was discovered in time to save the building.

save the structure. However, the next day when he left the premises to report the fire to the insurance company the barn burned to the ground. Jacob Epplin, insurance agent who made known the strange facts said the blazes in the house break out in widely scattered sections. Some times, he said, a blaze will break out on the floor again it will appear to come from the ceiling or walls. A straw hat left on the floor of the house several days ago mysteriously caught fire and was burned to a crisp Epplin said. Another time a newspaper on the floor caught fire and burned up but a pair of shoes on the paper were not even scorched. Later a calendar on the wall went up in flames. There is no electrical wiring in the house and the citizens are at a loss to explain the phenomena if it is a phenomena. An insurance company has placed a watchman at the house and local authorities have asked for an investigation to be conducted by the State Fire Marshall's office. In the meantime the weird fire continued to break out.

ON AND OFF THE SCREEN

Lupe Velez

THOUGH Lupe Velez, shown above as she appears before the cameras, is famed for her lively roles on the screen, off of it the petite Mexican film star is quite a home-loving person and finds her greatest joy in her five-year-old adopted daughter, Conchita, with whom she is shown below. The child is the daughter of Lupe's sister, who lives in Mexico City, and was legally adopted by the actress last year.

ALL EMPLOYERS WILL BE ASKED TO BOOST WAGES

attack on the depression by voluntary agreements to lift wages and shorten hours.

To the public went an open appeal for cooperation "by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of the N. R. A.—signers of the presidential agreements for boosting national purchasing power."

Powerfully driving this war-like plan for unifying the country in creating re-employment was a carefully mapped "campaign of education" that brusque Hugh S. Johnson said will "saturate the country with the hope on this thing."

Roosevelt himself will take to the people the plan he and Johnson agreed upon finally late last night. "I'm just as certain it will work as I am sitting here," said Johnson, back at his desk after the presidential conference. "I'm staking everything on it."

Heart of The Plan

The heart of the plan: Every employer will receive through the mail July 27 an agreement addressed to him by President Roosevelt. Upon signing, this binds him to maintain a fixed minimum wage and not to exceed a fixed maximum work week during "the President's emergency re-employment drive" from August 1 to December 1.

The basic hours, labor and wages: Child labor outlawed. $14 to $15 a week minimum and a 40-hour week for so-called white collar labor.

30 to 40 cents an hour minimum for a 35-hour week and an 8-hour day maximum for factory and mechanical labor.

Equitable readjustment of pay above the minimum.

Will Get Badges

Every signer receives a certificate and government badge showing the seal of N. R. A. (National Recovery Administration) and the words: "Member N. R. A. We do our part." This badge may be displayed on all equipment, goods, communications and premises. The signer may appeal for adjustment if a hardship is worked.

"We're going to appeal to the public to support the people who agree," Johnson said. "I believe we can create a psychology stronger than in war. We already have the churches and fraternal societies lined up."

For every consumer who wishes to cooperate and become a member of the N. R. A. there will be a badge issued upon signing of this statement.

will cooperate in re-employment by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of N. R. A."

Purchasing Powers Low

Johnson exhibited a chart he called "the only significant chart there is." It showed that values had shot far upward, leaving purchasing power behind.

It is inevitable that these must move together for prosperity," he said. "So the stock market crash isn't such a bad thing after all."

Even as the new voluntary plan was completed, the Industrial Administration continued hearings on codes proposed by different industries. Today's included lumber, coat and suit, shipbuilding and electrical manufacturing, while steel has been set for July 31.

Johnson gave out two documents after leaving the White House. One was a copy of the agreement every employer receives. The other a bulletin describing "The President's Re-employment Program."

The agreement began with a note "to every employer" and was signed "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"1. This agreement is part of a nation-wide plan to raise wages, create employment and thus increase purchasing power and restore business. That plan depends wholly on united action by all employers. For this reason I ask you, as an employer, to do your part by signing."

"2. If it turns out that the general agreement bears unfairly on any group of employers they can have that straightened out by presenting promptly their proposed code of fair competition."

The bulletin described the plan. It explained an agreement would hold until a code for the particular industry as approved, fixing wages and hours. It warned that for every trade or industry which has not submitted a code by Sept. 1, the President will exercise his authority and order hearings to proceed on the preparation of one.

Speed Is Essential

"Swift-moving changes require swift action," the bulletin said. "A rapid rise in prices and mass production is going on. Mass purchasing power must rise as fast. x x x In this national emergency we can not delay broad re-employment while we wait for codes. x x x"

Before Labor Day—six weeks away—it is possible to solve the problems of re-employment through individual agreements with the President. But to do this the country must act quickly, vigorously and boldly as one gets together in one powerful effort—declare a truce on selfishness. x x x

"The employers' part is to act at once and all together to submit and scrupulously comply with agreements with the President to shorten hours and raise wages and to cooperate with employees in peaceful adjustment of differences."

"The employees' part is to do their best on the job and to cooperate with N. R. A. and employers in peaceful adjustment of differences. Now can be done now for workers through the co-operation of 125,000,000 people that can ever be done by discord and dispute."

"The public's part—and especially the part of women (who control the bulk of buying)—is to support all those employers and employees who do their parts to put breadwinners back to work. x x x" conscience and opinion. x x x But this is not a ballyhoo campaign.

"This is a test of patriotism."

Seven-member recovery boards are created in each of the Commerce Department's 24 districts to supervise the work. A nine-member recovery board is created for every state. All members will serve without compensation and will be named by the President to represent the various classes of society.

ON AND OFF THE SCREEN

Greta Garbo

COULD you recognize the glamorous Greta Garbo, shown above in one of her movie roles, if you met her, sans makeup, as she appears in the picture below? Though the Great Garbo is known to millions on the screen, off of it she is "the woman nobody knows," for her private life in Hollywood is a most retiring one. Informal pictures of her are few, but an alert cameraman managed to snap this one while Greta was looking in another direction.

Experts Agreed That the Reaction Was Due And Was Tardy

New York, July 21.—(AP)—Here is how New York financial writers explain the slump of stock and commodity prices.

New York Herald-Tribune—"Three days ago banks tightened the lines on speculative credit, giving a push to the pyramidical price structure. Distilling stocks, a favorite with 1933 speculators, were the first to respond by moving downward."

The vulnerable technical position of all the markets, honey-combed with weak speculative accounts, accelerated the slump in value.

BARGAIN BRIDE

by KATHARINE HAVILAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 20, falls in love with 35-year-old BARRETT COLVIN who has made a name for himself as an archeologist. He is about to ask her to marry him when her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, interferes and succeeds in breaking up the romance.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELIA SEXTON, dies she leaves her entire fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD, Elinor's father. Barrett, who does not want the Sexton fortune, tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live as a guest in his home for a year he will give the entire sum to her to divide among the relatives.

Knowing the new man gave her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place next day. Barrett finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Then one day he sees her with BOB TELFARE and his suspicions that she is a heartless flirt are renewed.

The doctor orders a change of climate for Elinor's father and she goes to Aiken with him.

Years before Barrett shielded his half-sister, MARCIA, when a youthful romance ended disastrously. Marcia had a son whom Barrett adopted. Barrett has promised Marcia never to tell anyone the truth about the boy.

Lida Stafford asks Barrett for $30,000. When he refuses she sets detectives on his trail and learns about his ward, GERALD MOORE. Lida concludes the boy is Barrett's son.

Barrett goes to Aiken, without telling Elinor he is coming. He finds Bob Telfare there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV

BOB rose. "Time for me to be getting on," he said. "I'm a fifth wheel always have been and I've always known it."

"Would that tell Colvin anything, Bob wondered. He didn't want him making Elinor unhappy."

"Why, you're one of the best friends I've ever had!" Elinor protested warmly.

For a moment Barrett wondered. Her voice seemed sincere. Then he chilled, remembering Lida's art. The child was as clever an actress as her mother. That was all.

He rose, bowing stiffly, as Bob Telfare said his farewells.

"See you again, perhaps," said Bob, "if you're going to be down here for a time?"

"Perhaps," said Barrett.

Driving his low, open car toward the inn where he was putting up, Bob decided that he'd better be off and give Elinor her full chance. Surely a man who was with her each day should know her! He couldn't believe Barrett Colvin was such a fool.

It was rather awkward, too, to try to show another man his wife's good qualities. Bob didn't see how he could do that. Lord, wouldn't Colvin freeze him if he should try such a thing? He could almost feel the congealing air. Nevertheless Bob decided he would tell Colvin all he knew of Elinor if Colvin was hurting her by misunderstanding their friendship.

He'd knock Colvin down, sit on his chest and tell him, if he had to. He'd give them a month, then nose around a bit and find out how things stood. Maybe Bessie Thrope could help him out if help were needed. Bessie was a peach and she did the most adroit tinkering with human maladjustments while cleverer souls who would have botched the job spoke of her with affectionate amusement as "dear, good, bungling Bessie."

AFTER dinner and some telephoning to arrange north-bound reservations Bob did the worst thing he could have done. He left for New York. His own honesty made him see this as the best thing for all concerned. He did not for a moment imagine that Barrett Colvin would convert his departure into a confession of guilt.

Bob paid his hotel bill, left instructions for shipping his car and was driven to the station to board a hot, airless sleeping car. He lay awake most of the night, arguing out the situation with himself.

He could not forget the menace of Colvin's attitude because it menaced Elinor. She was a peach and she had had a rotten hard break. She had always been surrounded by the sort of life she loathed. Darn it, if he had to he would have it out with Colvin. He'd say, "Look here, you give Elinor a square deal or—" He planned on the naive, blunt manner of a young man who knows more of blue ribbon mares, long distance swimming and golf trophies than of diplomacy.

Miss Hemmingway, the nurse, came to the terrace after Bobby had gone.

Miss Hemmingway was a compound of stiffly starched, rustling linen, smooth hair, pert, small cap and ready smile that told nothing with scientific reserve. Her smile the last few days had been as artificial as the stiffness of her hair.

She had pitied Elinor Stafford, at first, knowing him through Lida. Now, pity being akin to love, she really cared for him as a poor, broken human being who had led a horrible life with "that woman," and who had not enough reserve strength to make the fight to get well. Elinor she worshipped. And Elinor, she knew, was going to take what lay ahead with the keenest suffering.

ON the terrace she shook hands with Mr. Colvin after expressing mild surprise at seeing him. He was a wonderful looking man, she thought. It was seldom one saw two such fine looking people together.

Miss Hemmingway stood with cool, gentle fingers on Bentwell's thin wrist, eyes on her watch. Then she said, "Well, I think we'll put you to bed for your dinner. You've had a full day with all these visitors."

Bentwell nodded. He knew he wasn't equal to much more effort.

Elinor murmured her disappointment and Barrett seconded it, half-ashamed. He could not be sorry that he was to dine alone with Elinor.

At eight they sat down at a cozy little table in a small, attractive dining room. Tall candles with flames dancing gently in the moving air and a low bowl of flowers made a frame for Elinor's face. She wore a primrose frock of soft chiffon and her hair was dressed low as he liked it. She smiled at him and sighed. She was so happy! Tremulously, unbelievably happy!

"It was so good of you to come!" she said.

"It's good to be here," he answered honestly. As always he was weakening under her spell. Nothing mattered now to him but the knowledge that she was near.

He gave her the message Higgins had sent—that the servants had missed her—and spoke of his interviews with Lida. That silenced her for several seconds.

Elinor asked about his work and he told her what he had been doing. He was surprised to find that she knew a good deal about it.

"I didn't know you were interested in that sort of thing," he said slowly.

"BUT it's your work—" she said, and laughed. "Since coming down here I've read everything you've written that I could lay my hands on. I think you write beautifully!"

"Why—my dear child—I can't write at all!"

"But you can!" she disputed firmly.

"I think you'd like expedition work," he said. He had never before considered taking her on a trip with him. If he could do that what a trip it would be!

"I've often dreamed about something of that sort," she said. "I only know one kind of life—and it's such a narrow kind. When I was little my happiest day dream was imagining I had been shipwrecked on a desert island where there were no bills and no debts—just honesty and congenial savages!"

"There ain't no such animals!" he said, laughing.

"I'd be glad to trade poisoned arrows for poisoned talk," she assured him. "I know I'd like them better!"

They had their coffee in the living room, a charmingly simple place of gay chintzes, softened in tone by the low lights. French doors opened to the terrace and the soft night breeze crept in to stir the hangings, making the roses and lilacs nod in their vases.

Elinor sat on a low stool and Barrett in a deep chair, leaning forward toward her.

"I want to have a long talk with you," he said after the maid had left a coffee tray on the low table near Elinor.

"I want to talk to you, too," she confessed. She was going to tell him she could not endure much more of his "blowing hot and then cold." It must be one thing or the other continually, in order to make the rest of the time they were to spend together endurable.

He could soften her so utterly by being as he was now. Then when he grew cold again she suffered doubly. She would tell him that frankly, she had decided, admitting that she was happier when they were friends than she had ever been before.

VARIED REASONS FOR COLLAPSE OF MARKET ADVANCED

Experts Agreed That the Reaction Was Due And Was Tardy

New York, July 21.—(AP)—Here is how New York financial writers explain the slump of stock and commodity prices.

New York Herald-Tribune—"Three days ago banks tightened the lines on speculative credit, giving a push to the pyramidical price structure. Distilling stocks, a favorite with 1933 speculators, were the first to respond by moving downward."

The vulnerable technical position of all the markets, honey-combed with weak speculative accounts, accelerated the slump in value.

The foreign factor of great psychological influence on the side of the decline was the sudden great strength of the dollar against sterling, brought about by the British conversion offer made to holders of 5 1/2 per cent dollar bonds issued here in 1917. A great section of Wall Street looked upon this offer as an adroit maneuver by Great Britain to bring sterling rates down in terms of dollars, the recent advance in sterling having become a sore point with British exporters.

Labor Is Restless

"Sentiment was treated to another cold dash of water in the form of a warning issued by General Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Recovery Administrator, that a domestic crisis impends within 60 days unless wages are quickly boosted throughout industry to bring purchasing power up to the level of presently elevated prices. Wall Street also took notice of the fact that labor circles are getting restless in the face of advanced price levels and that numerous small strikes are being called."

The New York American: "The plain fact is that the public had unaccustomedly wild gambling spree which weeks ago had exceeded reasonableness. The whiskey col-

GOOD THOUGHTS

Now therefore hearken, O Israel, unto the statutes and unto the judgments, which I teach you, for to do them, that ye may live, and go in and possess the land which the Lord God of your fathers giveth you. And what nation is there so great, that hath statutes and judgments so righteous as all this law, which I set before you this day?

—Deuteronomy 4.

It should not seem surprising if out of the present world difficulties, there comes an enlarged sense of patriotism, an ideal vast enough to include all men and nations in the purpose to establish righteousness with its attendant harmony the world over. All reforms must, of course, begin with the individual, but if they are genuine they quickly extend, just as the radiation of light dispels darkness.

—The Christian Science Sentinel.

Land of my sire! what mortal hand Can er untie the filial band That knits me to thy rugged strand.

—Scott.

There are no points of the compass on the chart of true patriotism.

—Robert C. Winthrop.

I love my country good, with respect more tender, more holy and profound than my own life.

—Shakespeare.

That is a true sentiment which makes us feel that we do not love our country less, but more, because we have laid up in our minds the knowledge of other lands and other institutions and other races and have had kindled afresh within us the instinct of a common humanity, and of the universal beneficence of the Creator.

—Dean Stanley.

Chicago Tribune Warehouse Burns

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—An early morning fire that lighted the Chicago river front and attracted a crowd of several thousand persons damaged a warehouse of the Chicago Tribune. Officials estimated the loss at more than $300,000, mostly to 6,816 tons of newspaper stored in the building.

The fire was believed to be the result of spontaneous combustion and broke out after a watchman said he heard a heavy, dull explosion. Sixty pieces of fire fighting equipment battled the blaze from land while two fire tugs directed streams of water on the building from the river.

Wednesday Mrs. W. W. Gilbert received news of the sudden death of a niece of Mr. Gilbert, Mrs. Florence Pinckney Fritch, of Highland Park, who died of a heart attack while on a visit at Colorado Springs, Colo., motoring out there a week or so ago, and seemingly in good health.

Mrs. Fritch is the daughter of Mrs. J. P. Sanford, a former Dixon resident, the family having many friends here. Mrs. Fritch had visited at the Gilbert home many times and many friends mourn the passing of this charming woman. It is thought that interment will be in Colorado Springs.

How Cost of Bread Ingredients Rose

HOW prices of ingredients used in making a typical one pound loaf of white bread have changed from February to July of this year, is graphically illustrated in this chart based on statistics compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture before the processing tax on wheat went into effect. It is estimated the wheat tax will increase the cost of flour to bakers by less than one-half a cent per pound loaf.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Aside from the fact that congressional elections of next year will be highly significant because all the new crop of democratic representatives must run again, the senate side of the political picture must come in for consideration.

In the tidal wave of votes that swept Franklin D. Roosevelt into the presidency in 1932, the republican Old Guard of the senate was all but engulfed.

That old wheelhorse of republicanism, Jim Watson of Indiana, was shunted from a place in the national spotlight that dates back as far as 1894. Reed Smoot, dean of the senate and the epitome of G. O. P. stand-patism, went down to defeat before a young professor in Utah, a novice at politics.

And George Moses, the scintillating wit and satirist of the Old Guard, fell before the attack of a newcomer in national politics in New Hampshire by the name of Fred Brown.

HOURS OF COMBAT

These were the major casualties the Old Guard suffered in the fall of 1932. There were others such as Glenn of Illinois, Bingham of Connecticut and Thomas of Idaho, all republican stalwarts.

Next year another section of the Old Guard must face the electorate and what will happen to them? Glance down the list of those that are up for re-election in 1934. There are 17 republicans and democrats and one farmer-laborite.

Heading the list is Austin of Vermont, as solid in his republicanism as the granite for which his state is famed. There's Fess of Ohio, republican keynoter at the Kansas City convention in 1928.

Hale of Maine, who occupies the seat in the senate his father once had, is another. Dr. Hatfield of West Virginia must run.

Then there's Herbert of Rhode Island eastern campaign manager for Herbert Hoover in the 1932 presidential campaign, to say nothing of Dave Reed of Pennsylvania.

There are others such as Keen of New Jersey, Patterson of Missouri, Townsend of Delaware, Vandenberg of Michigan and Walcott of Connecticut, whose politics are as regularly republican as the clock.

AS 1934 APPROACHES

How will the "new deal" affect the political futures of these senators? What will happen between now and the nominating and election campaigns of 1934?

They all admit at the present that the great game of politics is suffering from the doldrums. The wisest of them are waiting for the breaks. Some, of course, already have started campaigning, but it consists for the most part in mending political fences in an unobtrusive sort of way.

But, 1934, after all is not so far away. They must get under way soon and make up for lost time.

Daily Health Talk

SUN BATHING

The value of sun bathing has been emphasized. It is important, however, that those who plan to sun bathe should know the hazards involved in excessive exposure to the sun.

The sun can produce a skin burn almost as severe as that following scalding. Beside the discomfort associated with a blistered skin, the individual may suffer fever and a disturbance in kidney function.

In latent tuberculosis excessive exposure to the sun is known to prove injurious. Pediatricians report cases in which children who have been permitted to stay out too long in midday sunshine have suffered loss of weight, anemia and various nervous disturbances.

Recently a peculiar kind of pigmented spots has been reported to follow sun bathing. These spots are commonly of a deep chestnut color, and irregular in form and shape and tend to persist, despite all forms of treatment.

The pigmentation was found to be due to the application of eau de cologne to the skin, followed by unreasonably long exposures to the sun.

The mechanism of this pigmentation is not as yet understood. However, it has been fairly definitely established that eau de cologne or any perfumed oilment or application containing the oil of lavender or bergamot may produce these effects.

Sun bathing should be begun gradually, the first exposures being limited to from five to 10 minutes in duration, with only the arms and legs exposed.

Subsequently, depending upon the tolerance of the individual, both the time and the body surface exposed should be increased. As the skin becomes gradually darkened, a tolerance for the sun's rays is developed.

Sun bathing should not be indulged in when the sun is high, that is, between the hours of 11 and 2.

A BOOK A DAY

By Bruce Catton

There is something immensely encouraging and reassuring about such a book as "Certain Samartans" by Esther Pohl Lovejoy, a new and enlarged edition of which has just been published.

This book tells the story of the American Women's Hospitals—that organization of women doctors who went overseas during the war under Red Cross supervision, started out by caring for wounded soldiers and wound up by going all over the Near East and combating famine, plague and a dozen other evils all the way from Albania to Armenia.

"Wound up," perhaps, isn't quite the expression—for some of these women are still at it. But anyway, it is a fine record of magnificent service; and, as I say, it is a reassuring sort of book.

We hear a lot these days about the big rewards that must be hung up in order to inspire people to do their best work. Industry must offer its million-dollar bonuses, bankers must draw up their preferred lists, self-interest must be catered to all the time, or the world's work won't get done. Oh yeah? Read what Dr. Lovejoy says:

"This service has not been a bed of roses. Sometimes it has been a bed of straw in a box car, a rug on the deck of a sailing smack, or a cot in a typhus camp. Our hospitals have endured discomforts, survived diseases and manifold dangers, but they have lived abundantly. . . . They can never be poor though they die in the almshouse—the place would be enriched by their presence."

America should never cease to be proud of the work done by these women. This book gives you an impressive survey of their splendid record.

Perpetual Smile Bessie's Defense

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Bessie Opas turned a perpetual smile upon an audience that had gathered in Criminal Court today for the premiere of her trial as an alleged plotter against her husband's life.

But the response was chilly. Opas turned the other
